TWO WOMEN. ONE SPACESHIP. NO ESCAPE.

A heart-racing, feminist sci-fi thriller unfolding in real-time aboard a dying spacecraft. Two women—one a brilliant but overlooked scientist, the other a talented pilot—hold Earth's last hope. As the ship fails, so does their trust in each other, forcing them to confront both the ticking clock and the fractures between them.

Since its debut in 2020, ALONE has toured across Australia and New Zealand, racking up 4- and 5-star reviews, several awards including the 2021 SYNZ Tour-Ready Award, as well as making its UK debut at the 2023 Edinburgh Fringe.

Returning to Assembly Festival in 2025, ALONE is more relevant than ever—a chilling reflection of a world where science is politicized, women are too often unheard, and hope feels increasingly fragile. This powerful, urgent work is a must-see for anyone who loves bold, meaningful theatre.

REVIEWS

"Makes the topic of sustainability more accessible to the non-scientists amongst us."

NORTH WEST END UK

"The tension building is spot on, you're involved before you realise it."

WEST END BEST FRIEND

"It's clear this outfit is well-experienced, well-oiled, and professional-grade. Alone is definitely not one to miss!"

THEATRETRAVELS.ORG

"The dialogue and interplay is so natural that you forget they are acting."

THE EDINBURGH REPORTER

"This is a powerful and emotional meditation on self-reliance, strong beliefs, hope and staying true to one's self."

STARBURST MAGAZINE

"The swinging of tone from morbid practicality to giddy humour was authentic and humanising."
